The cost of substitutes in the French army is $600.

It is thought Delaware will send 2,000,000 baskets of peaches to market.

Chicago has one thousand rats to every one of its inhabitants.

The cholera has re-appeared in some of the country districts of France.

It is stated that reconstruction in Virginia alone will cost half a million dollars.

General Schofield has commenced the removal of several county officers in Virginia.

The receipts of the internal revenue for last week amounted to $5,450,221 01.

The amount of fractional currency redeemed and destroyed at the Treasury during the week was $370,300.

Hiram Powers, the American sculptor, who has lived in Italy for many years, writes a friend that he will visit the United States this fall.

M'lle Nunez, a girl of eleven years, wore $160,000 worth of diamonds at a late children's ball in Paris.

The Salisbury (North Carolina) Banner says that the county of Forsythe sold enough dried blackberries last year to pay its taxes.

Mr. H. B. Claflin is said to purchase gold to the amount of $100,000 each day, in Wall street, for the purpose of carrying on his immense business.

The Richmond (Indiana) Telegraph tells of a Wayne county man who took his family to the circus last Monday, and sold his cooking stove to get money to buy tickets.

Sophie Worrell, the actress, now playing at New York, received a bouquet the other night which contained $3,000, a diamond brooch, and a pair of ear rings.

General Sickles, says Prentice, is evidently reaping a rank harvest of human rights in the South. And the reaping is so thoroughly done that no gleaning will be needed.

Tucker's large warehouse in Charlestown, Massachusetts, fell to the ground with a terrible crash Saturday afternoon. Three men were severely injured.

A drunken vagrant in a station house at Milwaukee, a few nights since, was recognized as a once noted divine, who had fallen to that level in consequence of one great sin a few years before.

The Cumberland Presbyterian General Assembly (Southern) decided at its late meeting in Kentucky that it was the duty of the Church to "leave all civil and political questions to Cæsar, to whom, by God's ordinance, they belong."

The late officials from Mobile learn that the President will do nothing with their application to be restored to position until the Attorney General decides on the power of military commanders to remove civil officers.

General Butler, it is said, confidently expects the President's impeachment. He is almost, says Prentice, as sanguine as sanguinary. And he is always the latter except in battle.

The extension of the Mobile and Ohio railroad to a point in Kentucky, opposite Cairo, is finally determined on, and the work will be completed in a short time. Bridging the Ohio at Cairo is also contemplated.

At the Catholic fair at Evansville, Friday night, R. K. Dunkerson won a fine saddle and bridle, worth fifty dollars, voted to the most popular man in the city, by a vote of 1,700 to 665.

John Antrim, of the firm of Antrim & Sweet, merchants of St. Louis, has fallen heir to a large estate in Ireland, the property of the late Earl of Antrim. The whole estate is valued at seven million pounds sterling, of which Mr. Antrim gets about one-half.

A gay old boy of sixty-odd years recently married, in Portland, Maine, a blooming maiden not out of her teens, and on Saturday last the young woman presented to her venerable but vigorous lord and master four children at one fell swoop—two boys and two girls.

The Rev. Mr. Perkins, of the Baptist church, at Effingham, New Hampshire, left his home a short time ago, on a journey, and while riding along in perfect health, had a presentiment that he was shortly to die. He stopped at a house by the roadside, asked for permission to enter, saying he had come to die. His friends were summoned, and in two days he was a corpse.

General N. B. Buford, one of the members of the commission appointed to investigate the Fort Phil. Kearney massacre, in his report to the Government just made, looks upon that atrocity as the result of a violation of treaty stipulations on the part of certain white men, by an attempt to locate a new route to Montana, not demanded by the public interest.

Miss Kate Norton, a native of Maine, and until recently a resident of Detroit, committed suicide at her residence in West Eleventh street, New York, by taking morphine. A [illegible] named Edward Dean, [illegible] to have [illegible] been living with her since she came here. Recently he married another [illegible], and the above is the sequel.

Irish papers report the appearance of a new and singularly fatal disease in Dublin. The first case occurred in March, last year, three others followed in the course of the next month, and during the present year twenty more have been recorded. In each case the attack was sudden. The symptoms include sudden prostration, and discoloration of the skin almost to a black or purple. The duration of the disease from seizure to death has varied from seven to ninety hours.

A New Haven clergyman recently refused to marry a divorced woman to a man, on the ground that the woman had been divorced without sufficient cause. The action of the clergyman being announced to the mother of the divorced woman, the mother died in a fit brought on by the news. In the meantime the couple were married by another clergyman, and the pair attended the funeral of the deceased mother as man and wife.

General Schofield seems to have concluded that the military authorities are as fully as competent to construe the reconstruction law as Attorney General Stanberry. General Grant evidently agrees with him, for he is so pleased with a recent order of Schofield's, virtually setting aside or ignoring General Stanberry's opinion, that he has sent it to General Ord for his guidance. The question now is, will the President interfere in behalf of his Attorney General?

The Nashville Banner informs us that a poor ass of a Brownlowite—one of the infamous fourteen—wanted to know of a colleague, who happened to have a little more sense, "if the Sinit couldn't pass a lor taxin ole Frazier to pay expenses of the trile." He actually wanted to levy on the little property owned by Judge Frazier, seize it, sell it, and appropriate the proceeds to "payin the bill." This he called "a nice little perlitikle dodge." This ignorant brute is supposed to be Aldridge, Senator from McNairy.

A Memphis correspondent of the Missouri Republican desires to know the population of St. Louis. That paper answers that the last regular census, taken in May, 1866, shows a population of 204,327. The population at present is a matter of estimate. Since May, 1866, there has been a steady increase, and the population now is supposed not to vary much from 220,000. In a speech recently made by Mr. Thomas, the Mayor of the city, he estimated the population at 225,000. Judging by the ratio of increase in past years, those figures are not far out of the way.

Great destitution prevails in the western portion of Ireland. The Rev. H. Finerew, a Catholic priest of County Galway, writes that the money contributed for Fenian purposes might be much more usefully spent in relieving the distress. He says: "we have a recurrence of the great distress which struck down the people of Ireland in the famine years of 1847 and 1848. If not met at once and relieved, it will place before our eyes some such scenes of starvation as we witnessed in the former years of famine. I myself have seen numbers of people who have not tasted food for two days. This fearful distress has been occasioned by a severe winter and failure of the crops."

A local prize fight came off Sunday, in Taylor's Grove, back of Newport, Kentucky, between Wm. McCarty and Johnny Galt, a brace of machinists of considerable repute among Cincinnati bruisers. Eight rounds were fought, and up to the sixth round the fight was of the most approved style, but on the seventh malice was shown, and the combatants clinched and wooled each other disgustingly, and biting and scratching was done on both sides. McCarty was badly punished in the face and ribs, and would have been thoroughly pounded but that Galt's wind gave out. On the eight round the amiable sport was interrupted by the sheriff of the county and a posse of the police, and a grand helter skelter race ensued.

On Thursday night, says the St. Louis Democrat, a farmer named Edward Ross, and his son, four years old, were murdered in their beds at their residence in the Columbia bottom, about ten miles from the city. Mrs. Ross, the wife of the murdered man, and stepmother of the boy, came to the city a day or two previous to the murder, to visit some friends. On returning to her home Saturday morning she found her husband and his son lying on the bed, dead, and covered with blood. The perpetrator of the horrible crime is supposed to be a German boy by the name of Peter, who was employed on the farm, as he is missing, and took with him a wagon and two horses. He was seen on Saturday morning with the wagon and team, driving toward St. Louis. He speaks good English, is eighteen years old, and five feet five inches in hight.

The final Woodlawn races on Saturday, with two miles and eight hurdles, had their starters with the following result: Red Bird, one, Zera, two, and Deserter, three. Time, one mile, 2:08; race won in 4:04½. The race was very exciting. The second race for the jockey club was for $100, mile and a quarter dash. Harper, Style and Walt Allen started. Dotter took the lead, held it, and won in 2:17½. Third race—this race was for a consolidated stake of $200; mile heats. Six horses were entered: Tabe Daly, Lowdown, Maggie McCarty, Plantagenet, Tom Porter, and Vic Lewis' bay colt by Bill Alexander. Maggie McCarty winner. Plantagenet won third heat, and Harper's Lowdown won first heat. Time, 1:49½, 1:46½, 1:49½, 1:47.

We are glad to learn from the New Orleans Crescent that it is the intention of the Hon. W. G. Swan, who has been residing in Louisiana since the war, to return to his native State and engage in the practice of the law in Memphis. Judge Swan will be remembered as a distinguished citizen of East Tennessee, and during the war a member of the Confederate Congress, from the Knoxville district. The New Orleans Crescent says: "Judge Swan is an old Tennessean by residence, having been prominent for many years at the bar of East Tennessee, and having filled high offices to the satisfaction of the people who confided in him. His varied learning, his professional experience and qualifications, his indomitable energy, his high character as a gentleman, and his fine social qualities, make him such an addition to the bar of West Tennessee as must increase the already high character of the profession there. To such of our friends as have legal business in Tennessee, we cordially commend Judge Swan as a lawyer to whom that business may be intrusted with entire confidence and security."

The German Congress at Chicago.

A Congress of the German population of the United States is now being held in Chicago. As to its objects the Chicago Times says:

The delegates in this congress represent one of the most extensive and profitable industries in the nation—an industry that pays annually a large proportion of the national taxes, and in which is embarked an amount of wealth that may be computed by many millions. Yet this industry is, at the same time, which the illiberal party holding the reins of power in every Northern State but one is striving, with all its might, in pulpit, press, and legislative halls, to crush out and destroy. The main object of this German congress in Chicago is to consult as to the best means of counteracting this illiberal crusade of the party which German votes have helped to place in power. The new movement in favor of a liberal party will be, therefore, a leading subject of discussion. That the congress will give its voice and influence to helping on the movement there can be no doubt.

The "industry" alluded to is the "lager beer" interest, which considers itself in danger from the Maine law fanatics who are controlling the Radical party.

The Conservative Senators—Cane Presentation.

Major James P. Thompson, Senator from the Warren district, says the Nashville Union and Dispatch, was presented a day or two since with a handsome walking cane, as a testimonial of the regard entertained for him by his fellow Conservatives of that body. The venerable recipient is worthy of the token, and both he and the donors, Messrs. Johnson, Carrigan, McFarland and Smith, of Shelby, are worthy of all honor for the just and honorable course they have pursued, as well as Senators as members of the late impeachment tribunal. They were few but undismayed. They have earnestly and strenuously resisted every encroachment of Radicalism, and, though overwhelmed by the numbers and knavery which surged around them, have kept their voices continually lifted against it. They go back to their constituencies with clean hands and clear consciences.

LOCAL NEWS.

☞ The news of the City will be found on the first and third pages. ☜

The Mayoralty of Hon. W. O. Lofland.

The administration of Mr. Lofland will make a new era in the history of Memphis. No former Mayor sympathized so heartily with projected improvements; none gave such aid as he to every scheme that seems calculated to make Memphis great in the future. Some property holders express fears of their ability to stand up under the load that such projects involve; but the number is steadily increasing of those who see that street paving and other great measures suggested or urged by Mayor Lofland will increase their wealth rather than detract from it.

If the great improvements he favors are completed, Mayor Lofland's reputation will be an enviable one. He is still a young man, and may long enjoy the credit of his usefulness. Mr. Lofland was born in Kentucky in 1826 and came to Memphis in 1836. He was an errand boy in the old Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, and rose, step by step, until his energy and faithfulness were rewarded by his being made teller of the bank. Subsequently, Mr. Lofland built the first flouring mill in this city. It was on the extension of Poplar street. He afterward built a number of flouring and saw mills on Hatchie river. He was for four or five years an alderman of the Second Ward, and thus became familiar with municipal affairs. In 1860 he was elected Controller of the city, and held that office until elected Mayor in 1867. Twice previously he ran for Mayor; once he was defeated and once he was debarred from holding the office by not having the necessary amount of unincumbered real property. His plans for paving the streets will, if they are carried out, win for him a distinguished name in the future.

A HAPPY METHOD.—At this season when church societies, and private as well as public schools are presenting their claims for public applause, through the media of old time fairs and fêtes, and tableaux and picnics, we notice with pleasure, that Mrs. Ketchum, so favorably known to our citizens as a laborer in the educational field, has determined upon a novel and attractive method of presenting her talented class of the school of the Holy Cross. Melody and recitations and scenes, from one or more of the classic comedies that have given breadth and character to the English stage, comprise the bill of fare. Readers will, in a hypercritical moment, make objections that the parts to be taken by children so young and undeveloped in mind, must be only mechanical, but then, how much better that the mind should thus be even mechanically exercised than that all used to the glitter and show of merely physical exercises and dressy occasions, the mechanism of the mind should only be utilized in that which is confessedly the least solid and most ephemeral of displays. But without entering farther upon our ideas in the premises, we beg to present briefly the claims of Mrs. Ketchum, her scholars, and the young friends who have volunteered to assist in the soiree. They are these: That the lady Principal and her daughter are noted for their genius and ability, displayed in many ways familiar to those interested in the cause of music and letters; have, on a thousand occasions, lent their services as songsters in behalf of charity and religion at public concerts and soirees. For this alone they have claims on this community, but when to these we add those they have earned as teachers, we present a weight that cannot but add to the burden of which we propose our citizens must lighten themselves by a generous effort in their behalf on occasion of the musical and dramatic soiree to take place on the 13th inst., at the Greenlaw Opera Hall. But to this we must again add the claims of the "little ones," and the masters and misses who form the reserve peculiar to their age, come forth to recite and render scenes that have given almost immortality to many artists. The children of many well known citizens, it is natural the teachers of the scholars of the school of the Holy Cross should manifest a becoming pride in their progress, and thus seek to make known to her neighbors and friends their diligence and aptitude and the excellency of her method of teaching. A treat has been provided; a programme made up that will in itself be proof of ability and taste and commendation high as the highest. The tickets for the occasion are sold at only one dollar. A dollar cannot be more worthily spent nor time better than on the occasion of this rare and happy method of presenting to the public the scholars of the school of the Holy Cross.

BASKET PICNIC ON THURSDAY.—The Independent Order of Odd Fellows, whose charities are world wide, falling like the gentle dews from heaven on the widows and orphans, the sick and the distressed, are eminently deserving of the smiles of the public, when they dedicate a day to social pleasures and rural enjoyment. This the Odd Fellows of Memphis have done, and all who honor unostentatious charity, and desire to spend a day of rare happiness, should attend their basket picnic on Thursday, June 13th. The company will be select, and the arrangements as to music and sports will be such as to give entire satisfaction. The whole affair is in the hands of gentlemen who are experienced caterers to public pleasures, and who will combine strict respectability with social enjoyment. The cars for Buntyn's station, where, in a cool and pleasant grove, this pleasant Odd Fellows picnic will come off, will leave Memphis at 8:30 a.m., 12:45 p.m., 4 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.; returning at 1:45 p.m., 4:20 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.

ITEMETTES.

The Nicolson pavement, from Poplar to Beale street, will be all completed within a fortnight.

An attempt of burglars to enter the store of A. W. Martin, on Saturday night, was a failure.

The brick work of the walls for the new County Court building, on the corner of Union and Second streets, has been begun.

William Miller, a son of Squire Miller, was drowned while bathing in Wolf river on Sunday. He was an interesting boy, seven years of age.

A boy ten years of age, named Louis Filbrich, was drowned on Sunday near the navy yard, while bathing.

A room occupied by H. B. Tinsom, No. 197 Causey street, was robbed on Sunday night of valise, clothing and ninety-seven dollars. The valise and clothing were found in a gully.

The residence of Mr. A. Larentree, corner of Main and Huling streets, was robbed on Sunday night of sixty-five dollars and a lot of articles. Chloroform was given to the inmates of the house.

The room of Mr. L. Wolfenstein, at 331 Main street, was entered on Saturday night by thieves, who stole from his pockets the key of his store, and then, opening the safe, carried off two hundred dollars, a gold watch and other articles.

Everybody is wondering whether the numerous robberies and burglaries that are occurring in our city indicate that the police are of no account to detect crime, or the thieves have police protection in return for a share of the plunder.

A number of refugee soldiers from the crushed Imperial army of Maximilian have arrived in our city. Most of them are Bavarians, and their sentiment was tersely expressed by one of them yesterday: "Dem dam Mexicos; I wants noting to do mit dem no more."

The adjournment of the Supreme Court has laid over the tax cases for a good long time. The frantic appeals of the State officers for money don't seem to have hurried the Supreme Court. The Judges doubtless think that the State treasury would not now be so empty as it is if Brownlow officials had not squandered the money, and they ain't going to make indecent haste in deciding cases.

The engineer of our proposed Waterworks will this week begin the work by an inspection of the locations that are regarded as most favorable for the reservoirs, and also of Wolf river, Big Creek, and the lakes, from which it has been suggested that the water might be brought. Mr. Harmony, the resident engineer, will have the aid of consultations with Mr. Chesebrough, and other eminent civil engineers. Mr. Harmony himself built the waterworks at Louisville and at Cleveland.

It is said that the stockholders of Elmwood Cemetery have under consideration and will probably determine to render a most important service to the public by testing the feasibility of procuring an ample supply of water in this section by boring an artesian well. Such a well would add greatly to the romantic beauty of Elmwood Cemetery, and the public would gladly contribute to test the matter. It need not cost over ten thousand dollars to bore down fifteen hundred feet, and at that depth good water is almost certain to be found. This would seem the first matter that should engage the attention of our water works engineers. Water thus obtained would be the best.

A curious incident happened here a few days since. A lady who has some property and has been widely known as a handsome widow after long living in single blessedness, yielded to the importunities of a lover, and consented to be led to the hymenial altar. It was arranged that she should go in her carriage to the place where the ceremony was to come off and there meet the expectant bridegroom. The lady stepped into the carriage but was astonished by a gentleman springing in after her, and declaring that he would go along and see her married. It was her husband with whom she has not lived for years, but who had, it seems, kept accurately posted in regard to her movements. It is unnecessary to say that the wedding did not come off, and when the expectant bridegroom heard of the difficulty he vamosed in hot haste.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Young Lady Returning to her Country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three, she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any lady or gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by mail or express on receipt of an order by

EDITORIAL

ORGANIZE! organize!! On Saturday last we published an interesting communication from Hardeman county, urging the organization of the Conservative party, and suggesting the names of several good and true men as suitable candidates for Senator. The individuals mentioned by our Pocahontas correspondent are every way worthy of the confidence of the people. There are no better than JAMES WALKER and JOSEPH RANSOM. Of Judge WALKER we need not speak. He is known to the people of the State, but more especially to his professional brethren, as one of the ablest lawyers and purest men in the country. Mr. HUDDLESTON is a sound lawyer and a true gentleman. As our correspondent says, there is no lack of material for true and able leaders. What the people want is action and concert, and unless these elements are brought together, talent and worth will avail nothing. We learn from our correspondent that the Radicals have nominated one JOHN ALDRIDGE for Senator. The promotion of this infamous scamp to a position of honor in the community is one of the strangest events of these strange times. The truth is, his proper place is a felon's cell instead of the Senate chamber. More than a year since the grand jury of Madison county returned into court an indictment against ALDRIDGE for murder, and yet he has passed freely through the country—sat in BROWNLOW'S legislature—assumed the responsibility of setting on the trial of a Judge—makes laws affecting the life and liberty of our people, and is now a candidate for re-election to the Senate, and we suppose will canvass the counties of the Senatorial District, teaching the people the duties of good citizens, instead of atoning for his offense on the gallows, or in the penitentiary. Why he has not been arrested is a mystery to us. Is it the fault of the Sheriff, the Attorney General, or whom? "Can such things be, and overcome us like a summer's cloud, without our especial wonder." We respectfully suggest to our friends to issue a call immediately for a Conservative meeting at Purdy, on the 15th, when Mr. ETHERIDGE will be present, and make their nomination for the Senate at once.

We saw also a communication in the Appeal of the same date, calling for an organization of the true men of this county. We cordially indorse what the Appeal's correspondent has said. Unless we organize and secure concert of action before the August election, all the speeches of Mr. ETHERIDGE and the stirring appeals of the press cannot save us. To succeed we must act, work, and pull together. We had as well address reason to a gang of drunken savages as to attempt it with the band of public robbers who now have their feet upon the necks of the people of Tennessee. The situation has its charms, and the profits arising from it are too improving to the pecuniary circumstances of the cunning rogues to allow them to yield to the force of reason or the dictates of honor. Their willingness to hold positions, amid the loathing scorn of our people, is proof of their unfitness for them. No gentleman, guided by a high sense of honor, would accept a position of the kind in the midst of a people who scorn and loathe him. But why appeal to the sense of honor of such persons? Why offend the sensibilities of decent people by an exposure of their frauds and villainies? What do they care for such exposures? Why, it is their trade, and we only give them the benefit of gratuitous advertisements. If we have made up our minds to live always in this degraded condition, let us cease our grumbling and submit as gracefully as we may to our fate; but if we mean to maintain our manhood, and shake off these vermin, let us at once address ourselves to the task, and do it. We call upon our people to send in their names for an organization, and complete such organization at once, upon the basis of a manly resistance to cruel usurpation and public robbery. In the mean time much may be affected before such organization, and as we have only two months to the election, it behooves every man to commence at once, and where we can't work collectively let us do it severally. We are told that we have about six thousand negro voters registered in this city, very many of whom have been brought here within the last six or eight weeks from Arkansas and Mississippi. Of that number, about one in ten will vote the Conservative ticket. Who supports these honest, but deluded, tools of white men? We answer the honest Conservative business men of the city. The draymen, hackmen, porters in stores and hotels, barbers, shoe blacks, gardeners, hodmen and operatives in various little works of handicraft, are living upon the patronage and deriving their daily subsistence from the men and families whom they are brought here to insult and degrade, and then to be themselves thrown by as useless lumber. Let this thing be stopped at once. There are thousands of white people who would rejoice at such a harvest of employment as is now lavished upon the negroes, and who certainly make to society as good citizens. Why feed and warm vipers in our bosoms? It is true the negro could be made a very useful member of society, and no people would treat him with more kindness than our Southern people, but to feed and sustain him at the price now demanded is to court certain death. Let our people, each for himself, set to work at this thing; give no employment, aid or comfort to mortal man, black or white, who assists in the work of our degradation. At the same time, begin your organization, and before that is completed, the work will be more than half done, and the other half will be an easy matter. No secret societies. No midnight conclaves. Let us do things boldly and openly, and if we perish let it be in the face of day.

THE Radical press is saying a great deal about the late disturbances at Brownsville. If positive proof were needed of the wish and intention of the Radicals to create and foment discord and hatred between the whites and blacks of this State, it is furnished in overwhelming form and ample abundance by the facts connected with that same riot. Who instigated that disturbance? Who made speeches to the negroes, exciting all their worst passions? Who appealed to their cupidity and talked about dividing out the lands of the whites among the blacks? Who reminded the negroes of their former slavery, and while thanking GOD and LINCOLN for the inestimable boon of freedom, advised the negroes to enslave the whites? Who talked about cutting the throats and cutting out the hearts of former slave owners? Did Conservatives make any such speeches or give any such advice? Did they counsel confiscation, outrage and bloodshed? No one will dare say they did. The meeting was a Radical meeting, addressed by Radicals and managed by Radicals, until it became so unmanageable as to alarm its leaders. And who were the principal characters in it? Who were the wirepullers? Who were the managers and the "fire and faggot" orators? Were they citizens of Haywood county? Were they men loved and honored by the people of that county for their sterling worth, good sense or high integrity? Nothing of the kind. SMITH, who seems to have been the bell weather of the Radical flock then and there assembled, is a disgrace even to the intolerant region that gave him birth. He is a reputed Yankee skunk, who would win infamy in lieu of respectability; and his envy of his betters boiled over in the venom which he spit from his foul heart on that day. Who were his colaborers in firing the negroes with hate for Southern whites? Were they even residents of Haywood county? Not at all. They were a low Radical white knave from this place, and two negroes who never resided there, and who are total strangers to her citizens. This intermeddling Yankee thought it his province and duty to enlighten the citizens of Haywood as to the proper man they should select for county Representative. Yankee like, he had not the modesty which would have intuitively taught any gentleman how impudent it is for the citizen of one county to attempt to interfere in the local or political affairs of another. With a conscience of India rubber, a face of coarse brass, and a heart of devilish hate for all decent Southern white men, this brazen intruder ventured into a garden that would have been one of quiet but for the poisonous hissing of his forked tongue. His dogs of war were two blacks who, but for his teaching, would never have uttered what they did at Brownsville, and what, even with his damnable instructions, they will never dare utter here in Memphis. Those firebrands that attended the Brownsville meeting, were all emissaries of BROWNLOW, "sent from this county, as it contains most of the offal of the Radical camp. They had no business at that meeting. They went there with no good intent. They were bent on mischief, and did not dream that the storm they desired to raise would become unmanageable in their hands. They went up there from Shelby county, to lord it on the court house green, and frighten the citizens of Haywood into humble submission to any outrage they should perpetrate. They went there not to counsel peace and harmony between all parties so necessary at a period like this, but to excite hatred and discord and hostilities between the two races. Their political existence and power depend upon turmoil and strife. Peace would overthrow them and their infamous rule, and they do not want peace. Hence the speeches heard at Brownsville on that day, and hence the character of the dirty, despicable creatures who went up there from Memphis to foment trouble. The disturbances there are to be lamented, the more so as it is the food upon which Radicalism lives. But the incitors of these troubles should be held responsible, and we trust the citizens of the surrounding counties will have the good sense, when they have Radical meetings, to give timely notice that no dirty Radical from Memphis, such as were the instigators of the riot at Brownsville, will be allowed to participate. We warn them that if the low, dirty tools and Brownlowites ever participate in such county meetings, riots will always attend them. They have not enough sense to be prudent, and are too knavish and brassy to halt at political trickery. They use the poor negro as the monkey uses the cat's paw; and it is to be regretted that the stray bullets, which, in such cases, sometimes hit the negroes, do not always find a whiter and meaner mark. Naturally, and when guided by the counsels of good men, the negroes will not engage in these intemperate discussions. They can and will exercise the right of free speech, and defend their political and civil privileges as the whites do. But they would always do it in a proper spirit, unless goaded to madness by the counsels and instigations of such devilish saints as volunteered to go from Memphis to incite the people of Haywood to deeds of rashness. Again we say, if our friends in any of the surrounding counties would have orderly, quiet, decent meetings, they will exclude Memphis Radicals.

The Nashville Banner suggests the name of Colonel Charles S. Cameron, of Memphis, as the Conservative candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction. Stephen Barch assumes to be commander of a gang of regulators in the Crab Orchard region, in Kentucky. We learn that Major J. W. Spratt left Montgomery, Alabama, on a hand car Thursday evening to pay off the hands along the line of the Montgomery and Eufaula railroad. After proceeding about seven miles he dismissed the car, and remained with the hands at that point. He then proceeded on foot to Oak Grove, three miles distant, and since that time no definite trace of him has been discovered. He is supposed to have been murdered and robbed.

Another terrible development has been made in regard to the First National Bank of New Orleans. Cuthbert Bullitt, late United States Marshal, has had for two years past $250,000 of the proceeds of the cargo of the Gray Jacket in his possession. He has been using this money in New York, but recently ordered it back through A. C. Graham, correspondent of the First National Bank in New York. Mr. Bullitt returned too late—the bank was closed. The case of the Gray Jacket has recently been decided by the United States Supreme Court in favor of the Government, and Mr. Bullitt has been ruled into court for not paying over the money. Of course the Government will lose the amount. As usual, his sureties are worthless.

THE SHERIDAN-WELLS IMBROGLIO.

Dog Eat Dog.

We find in the New Orleans papers, of the 5th, two letters from Governor Wells, addressed respectively to President Johnson and General Sheridan. In his letter to the President, Governor Wells denies the charge of General Sheridan that he has impeded the execution of the Reconstruction law. The Governor says:

It is evidently a mere pretext on the part of the General to give the color of cause for an act, which originated in personal malice toward me, because I dared to defend myself from his personal attacks. Had the General stated that I was an "impediment" in the way to the gratification of his inordinate ambition to make himself a great man, he would have come much nearer the truth than he did. His abuse of me personally I do not condescend to notice. His eminent skill in that line is well known to this community. That he should so far degrade the office he holds as to make his official orders the vehicle of his malice may surprise you, but not me, who know his reckless habits.

He concludes as follows:

Knowing that this question, touching the general powers of the military commanders thereunder, particularly growing out of the frequent exercise of the removing power by General Sheridan, is now under consideration by the Attorney General, I respectfully submit the case of my removal, in connection therewith, as another instance of the illegal exercise of power by General Sheridan.

In his letter to General Sheridan, among other things, he says:

General, you are not content with charging me as an "impediment" to the execution of the law, as your sole reason for removing me from office. As if conscious that the charge was a mere invention of yours to afford a pretext for doing an act you had predetermined on to gratify an ancient grudge, you come down to your true forte and poured out the vials of your wrath in a stream of abuse and scurrility on my devoted head. You will pardon me, General, for not imitating your example by way of retaliation.

My education has been sadly deficient in that polite branch of literature, and I am willing to leave the field to you as without an equal. I cannot forbear the remark, however, that when a Major General of the United States army has to play the part of a "bugler" in sounding in person his own honesty, it may well excite a curiosity in the community to surmise the cause therefor. As to your charge of appointing rebels to office, if it is a crime I would like to ask, General, if you are free from the same accusation. Out of a levee board composed of five members, one of your appointees was a member of the Secession Convention and signed the ordinance of secession; another is not a citizen of the United States, and claimed the protection of the British flag on the arrival of Commodore Farragut and his fleet, and a third was a blockade runner, who was arrested and tried by a military commission.

At half past nine a.m., on the following day Brevet Brigadier General John W. Forsyth, of General Sheridan's staff, called at the Executive office in the Mechanics' Institute, and informed Governor Wells that he bore a written communication to him from the General commanding, which was found to be as follows;

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH MILITARY DISTRICT,
NEW ORLEANS, June 7, 1867.

To Mr. J. Madison Wells, Ex-Governor of Louisiana:

SIR: Governor Flanders has just informed me that he had made an official demand on you for the records of the office which you have heretofore held as Governor of Louisiana, and that you have declined to turn them over to him, disputing the right to remove you from office by me, which right you have acknowledged and urged on me up to the time of your removal. I therefore send Brevet Brigadier General J. W. Forsyth, of my staff, to notify you that he is sent by me to eject you from the Governor's room forcibly, unless you consider this notification as equivalent to ejection.

(Signed) P. H. SHERIDAN,
Maj. Gen. U. S. A., Com'dg 5th Mil. Dist.

After reading this communication, Governor Wells answered as follows:

"General Forsyth: Sir, I surrender the office I hold only to the sword."

The Governor then called upon Judge Ryan, of the Parish of Rapides, to bear witness to what he had said. Without making any response whatever, General Forsyth withdrew. The new appointee of General Sheridan, Mr. Flanders, will therefore take immediate possession of the Executive office. Ex-Governor Wells has counseled with eminent counsel as to the proper course to be pursued at law.

THE CANVASS.

Etheridge in the East.

Cheering News from Knoxville, Greenville and Jonesboro.

Special Correspondence of the Nashville Banner.]

KNOXVILLE, June 6, 1867.

I suppose you have heard all about the discussion at this place between Etheridge and Stokes. Stokes got about as much of it as he will be able to digest the balance of this summer.

At Greenville, the half breed Maynard tried his hand, and such a skinning as Etheridge gave him I have never before heard. One meeting satisfied him, and he sneaked off back to Knoxville, leaving Judge Houk to take care of Etheridge.

Houk made his appearance in Jonesboro, and through his friends, Lieutenant Kelly and Captain Hacker, demanded a division of time, which Mr. Etheridge very properly declined to do, upon the ground that he could not and would not recognize Mr. Houk in public debate. Captain H. informed Mr. Etheridge that they, the Brownlowites of Washington county, had concluded to "let him, Mr. Etheridge, speak, provided he accepted their terms," whereupon Mr. Etheridge gave him a look which he will never forget, and said: "You propose to let me speak, do you? To let is the word, I believe. By the eternal God, sir, you can't let me speak. It is my right to speak, and I intend to exercise it," and then shaking his finger in his face, those fierce eyes of his flashing fire, continued: "You can't prevent it, sir." At this point the Captain wilted.

When the Brownlowites found that they could not drive Etheridge from his position, they gathered up their darkies and a few white men and marched them off to the woods, where they were entertained, I suppose, by Houk or John Brownlow. Their crowd numbered one hundred negroes and perhaps as many white men. Mr. Etheridge spoke in the court house to three hundred honest men, who were highly entertained for two hours and a half in a most masterly and finished style. This was a proud day for the Conservatives of Washington county. They congratulated themselves upon the fact that they had at last found one man who had the courage to defy Brownlow's pimps.

Everything is working well in East Tennessee. You may look out for good results from Etheridge's canvass. Our people are looking up and beginning to feel that there is yet some hope of their deliverance from Brownlow's bondage, and at an early day. The people of East Tennessee are perfectly carried away with Mr. Etheridge. From present indications, by the time August comes around, the old monarch who sits on his throne over the bridge, in East Knoxville, will be shorn of his power, execrated and despised for all time to come. SHADOW.

We learn from the Somerville (Tenn.) Falcon that on Thursday last, Mr. B. C. Worrell shot and killed a negro, about four miles from that place. Mr. Worrell had switched off some of his children who had been in the habit of, and were then engaged in throwing dirt into his well. The negro hearing of it came from the field infuriated, and made at Worrell with a fence rail. Worrell fired at him with a shotgun loaded with bird shot, killing him instantly. It was a clear case of self defence.

The storm of the 21st ultimo, at Natchez, was the hardest known since the memorable tornado of 1840; trees were uprooted, houses injured, and a coal boat sunk.

MARRIED.

At Houston, Miss., at the residence of Mrs. Baldwin, on Wednesday evening, [illegible] by the Rev. W. A. Clark, General [illegible] to Miss SALLIE VIRGINIA GARDNER, [illegible]

IN MEMORIAM.

DIED—At his father's residence, in Bolivar county, Miss., [illegible] son of General [illegible], in the thirty-third year of his age.

Death indeed struck a shining mark when it cast the shadow of the grave over this young and estimable citizen. In all the relations of life he bore his part well. As a son, he was fond and dutiful, making by his devotion a prop of bitter affliction to reach the bosom of his surviving parent, which time can never remove, nor the affection of warm and devoted friends mitigate. As a brother, he was as it were but the counterpart of the one who survives him. Knowing no thought that was not, cherishing with him each pleasure, and sharing with him every disappointment. As a citizen, he discharged all of the responsible duties of that position correctly and to the letter. As a master, he was kind and respectful to his former slaves; on to the highest [illegible] failed, he buried the hopes which his youthful fancies had excited, and, with an energy remarkable in one of his age, cleared up the wreck before him and prepared to meet the stern and material demands of the future. Had he lived, success would have crowned his efforts, but death came before yet his work had been done and his untiring industry rewarded. A devoted mother and two loving aged sisters preceded him, and when he "winged his flight above"—as he must have done if there be anything in "future rewards"—was at the gate to receive him. Sleep, brother, sleep! You have left behind you an inestimable jewel—a good name, which your fond heart and abiding qualities shall cherish. This will ne'er efface the impression, and friends will live to cherish your memory with tenderness.

A Card.

Messrs. Editors: In Sunday's Appeal I noticed a card, signed "Southern," which does great injustice to a worthy citizen—Mr. H. H. Higbee. I was associated with Mr. Higbee in business before, during and since the war, and know him to be a true friend to the South and to Southern interests—conservative in all his views and actions. Mr. Higbee is an amiable, honorable and charitable gentleman, and has done much to relieve, assist and encourage our Southern people, both in word and action. The card referred to was evidently dictated by malice or prejudice, and utterly unwarranted by the facts in the case.

A TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT.

Froth and Fury in Lincoln Council.

The Hunterians Again Suffer a Stunning Defeat.

There was a high old time in Lincoln Council on last Monday night. The factions mustered for the fight. The anti-Lewis men had gone round town bragging what they were going to do. They didn't say, "We are going to pitch into Barbour Lewis to-night at Lincoln Council," but they winked and nodded significantly, and said, "Barbour Lewis is going to be laid out to-night somewhere," "Somebody is going to be hurt to-night," "Certain rascals that use the Radical party for their selfish purposes are going to be tossed somehow somewhere," "It wouldn't be strange if there should be something done somewhere to the meanest fellows in Memphis." Of course those who heard these occular prognostications knew that Lincoln Council was the place where such a fracas was to come off. They knew that it was Hunter, Beecher, Waldron, Richardson and their followers and friends, against the Eatons, and J. W. Lewis, and Dr. White and their coadjutors. The Eaton-Lewis fellows didn't say much, but they intimated that they knew what was going on, and if grog, or influence, or money could win, the Hunter fellows should be soundly beaten.

THE DOINGS ON MONDAY NIGHT.

The night came on. Lincoln Council Hall, in Hickman Block, was brilliantly lighted up. Each Knight of the Dark Lantern gave the pass word and entered. They made the salaam and flourish that is customary. The meeting was opened. Barbour Lewis scowled at Hunter, and Beecher frowned at White and the Teutonic Knights, F. W. Louis and Count Laski, whispered Dutch to each other. Each seemed to be saying, "Ich nicht forstan." Barbour Lewis counted his men, and found that he had a pretty sure thing of it. He smiled grimly, and winked at Eaton, and hoped the other side would sail in. The other side did so. They produced their proofs of the wickedness of Barbour Lewis. He had betrayed somebody when he got to be County Commissioner. He had acted badly at Nashville. He had done badly elsewhere, years ago. He was not a saint in private life. The charges covered a wide area; the proofs were rather slim. Perhaps they showed that Lewis was not fit for membership in Lincoln Council; perhaps they didn't do so. An hour and a half was consumed in this labored attack. Some of the brethren got tired and wanted to retire. Hunter moved that nary one should be allowed to leave until the meeting adjourned. He was afraid if they did he would be beaten. His motion was put to vote and was overwhelmingly defeated. Hunter, at this rebuff in the council where he considered himself Tycoon, is said to have fainted. Beecher had to fan him and Waldron sprinkle water in his face. "This, this," he exclaimed, "is the end of all my dreams of greatness. Ah, Lewis! Lewis!" Unmoved by this pathetic dodge, Lewis went into a defense of himself. If he was a rascal it ill became any one there to accuse him. His private virtues were not matters for the Council to try. In his public career he had been governed by the great loyal principle of grabbing all he could. (Cries of "hear, hear; good, very good.) He had spent public money lavishly, (loud applause,) but it was all for the good of the party. He hoped all the brethren would read what the paper said about guerrillas and bushwhackers who didn't support the Radical party. It was his sentiments. (Hisses and groans from the Hunter faction. Cheers from the Eaton men.) Lewis produced his proofs, and his voice became sonorous as he launched a torrent of invectives at his enemies. The excitement became intense. Hunter got the floor when Lewis sat down. He didn't want the case decided then. He was astounded at the rascality that had packed the meeting. He wanted a chance to make a long speech about the case. He felt that he could convict Lewis if he could only let himself out. He couldn't speak two hours that night, but if they would only postpone the case he would speak on it before it was decided. Dr. White, who had been fidgeting to get a chance to say something, said that if Hunter's proposition was carried the next meeting could be packed by anti-Eaton men, who would convict Lewis, so he made a speech. He wanted to get home. He was tired. It was late. Everybody was tired. It would be better to postpone the decision. ("No, no," from the Lewis men. "Yes, yes," from the Hunter men.) He moved to postpone the decision to another meeting, so the Hunter might be heard. The motion was put and there was an overwhelming defeat of the Hunter faction. Lewis was then triumphantly acquitted, and ordered to be considered a shining light of the council. Before they retired from their den in Hickman block the Lewis and Hunter fellows came near pitching into each other, and the happy family did not settle their grievances by telling each other a piece of their mind until the neighborhood was aroused from slumber by their midnight billingsgate. They freely intimated that each other were rascals, which shows the clearness of their observation and their frankness. A sicker set of fellows than the Hunter men now are can't be found. They must succumb to the rule of the man whom they have denounced as shamefully corrupt, or be hunted down right loyally as guerrillas who are enemies of the Radical party.

Lace Points and Silk Sacques at Less Than Cost.—B. Lowenstine & Bros. are making preparations to have a new cloak room built, in consequence of which their old cloak room will have to be torn down by the 20th of this month; they therefore will have to sell off their entire stock of lace points and mantles, silk sacques and summer shawls within the next ten days. This will be an excellent chance for ladies to buy a lace point of any kind and quality at less than such can be imported. 6t

A Chance for Every Man to Get a Home.—There is no greater philanthropy than providing homes for the worthy needy people who may procure homesteads from very insignificant outlays. There is no public measure that will conduce more to the prosperity of the Southwest than placing the lands that would otherwise run wild and be unproductive in the hands of small farmers and landholders who will make the country rich by their labors. These two great objects are the purposes of the Southern Asylum. It aims to distribute lands in small tracts, and pay the present holders of large tracts what their lands are fairly assessed at. Any man, by the investment of five dollars in the Southern Asylum, which is no lottery, although the distribution is made by placing numbers in a wheel, may realize a homestead and perhaps a fortune. If he draws nothing, he will have the satisfaction of aiding a charity that aims to relieve the distresses of widows and orphans, and the gratification also of knowing that hundreds of working men are securing homesteads at every drawing. The sale of chances in this admirable project—which, from the character of the gentlemen concerned in it, we are confident will be managed in the most strictly honorable manner—will be continued in this city until Thursday afternoon, giving further opportunity than was at first announced to those who desire to invest five dollars in the chance to get a farm or homestead.

A Home for Mr. Davis.

To the People of the South: The Ladies' Davis Association of Mississippi was organized at the capital September 24th, 1866, for the purpose of receiving means for the family of ex-President Davis. A sufficient sum has been realized to meet present necessities. The work of love and duty which this Association proposes is raising funds for the purpose of purchasing a home for Mr. Davis in Mississippi. To effect this purpose it is necessary to appeal to the people of the Southern States for pecuniary assistance to organize associations in each of the States for the furtherance of the cause. The Association pledges its honor to the people of the South to apply faithfully the funds which may be contributed.

Contributions from all the States urgently solicited. They may be remitted to J. & T. Green, First National Bank, Jackson, Miss. All donations will be acknowledged by the Secretary.

BRILLIANT AFFAIR ON THE COMMERCIAL.

Elegant Stand of Colors Presented—Admiral Semmes Presents Them.

Magnificent Banquet on Board—Music, Mirth and Hilarity.

Yesterday, pursuant to announcement, a large assemblage of ladies and gentlemen, among whom were Captains Levy and Miller, George Mellersh, and a number of merchants, friends of the boat and her popular officers, collected on board the Commercial to witness the presentation of the elegant stand of colors lately voted to the most popular boat, at the Tabernacle Fair. A band of music enlivened the time, and at the appointed time the gallant Admiral Semmes made an eloquent presentation speech, which was received amid repeated applause.

In behalf of the recipients of the elegant testimonial, Captain Morton responded in handsome terms, and the colors were duly elevated to their commanding position amid lively cheers, and music from the band. A superb banquet was provided, and the large company enjoyed one of the most recherche and sumptuous repasts ever spread on our generous and hospitable steamers. To say there was a flow of soul and a flow of sparkling wine, would fall short of the social libations poured out, and enjoyed by that ready wit which enlivens such festal occasions. The Commercial went out with flying colors, and with many a "God speed," from her numerous delighted guests, having shown that the colors were properly bestowed, and will be most gratefully appreciated.

Paving.

Your correspondent T. propounds some great fallacies on this subject. He forgets that he can buy the scrip at about fifty cents to pay for his pavement, and that when he pays it into the treasury it goes to liquidate his own (corporate) liability instead of his making two payments for only one benefit. At first sight there is an apparent inequality that suburb property should be taxed as much as that centrally located. But look a little nearer and we find that the general prosperity of the city is more necessary to the suburban than to the other. The present size of the city gives ample value to the central ground, whilst increase of trade and population is absolutely essential to suburb values.

I think we should hold up the hands of Mayor Lofland in his efforts to build up corporation credit, his first very good scheme was spoiled by the meddling of a certain party; his second seems to be equally as good, and as nearly equal as human invention can approach, and in all views we ought to look at the fact that mud and dust hang like mill stones around the neck of Memphis property.

Sunburst Showers.—The rains descended in copious showers, while the sun shone in its utmost splendor, thus creating a rainbow whose exceeding brilliancy of colors marked it as one of nature's beauties. The cooling of the air is one of God's grand health invigorators, and we were more than gratified to see all these sunburst showers, also to notice that J. H. Loewenstine & Bros., No. 231 Main street, Clay building, are selling at retail for less than New York cost, their immense stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, clothing, hats, notions, etc., etc. Remember the place, 231 Main street, Clay Building. This is a first class stock, and is being sold at prices far below market value—in fact, a great many of the goods lower than before the war. Take our advice, call there for extremely cheap goods.

Bigley & Mellersh, Coal Dealers, New Bethel Building—A Good Time.—These enterprising and accommodating dispensers of that comfortable and necessary article known as coal, opened a magnificent new office in the splendid Bethel building, corner of Main and South Court streets. The opening on Monday was the occasion of a tip top time, at which champagne poured in torrents, producing an excellent community of feeling, which found its vent in flashing wit, beautiful sentiment and eloquent speech. Those of us who were unable to attend were kindly honored with a bottle of superb "green seal," to which we did ample justice, and for which we take pleasure in returning thanks to those by whom we were so kindly remembered. We wish this generous, hospitable and reliable firm the greatest success.

A correspondent suggests that there is favoritism in the manner in which some lands bidden in by the State at tax sales are held by the State for many years until the owners wish to sell, and to make a clear deed they have to pay the back taxes. THE BROWNLOW MELISH.

What They Say of Themselves.

The following letter appears in the Nashville Union and Dispatch:

Nashville, Tenn., June 1, 1867.

Editors Union and Dispatch—Sirs: I noticed in your paper of yesterday a piece published about my command at Brownsville, Tenn., headed, "Dare-devil Doings of the Brownlow Melish," in which you state that an old gentleman living at or near Brownsville was taken up and ridden upon a rail until vengeance was wreaked. Thinking that you desire to set facts before the public, I write, asking the insertion of this note in your paper, in order that justice may be did all parties concerned in the matter. On Wednesday last I arrested a man in Brownsville, Tenn., myself, who was charged with attempting to induce a man of our command to desert, [illegible] and offering him a suit of clothes, and if he would go with him and work for him, twenty-five dollars per month, and conceal him in a canebrake near his dwelling until the d—d militia left and gone to hell—then he could go. Being satisfied from the evidence I could get that the charges were true, and feeling it my duty as an officer to protect my command, and to save others from severe punishment, I ordered the gentleman to be ridden on a rail through the town of Brownsville, so that others who have been attempting the same could see the effects of their course; and that they could not induce men who had been pulled and hauled about during the rebellion by such men to comply with anything they require done. I also state that the gentleman spoken of does live in the vicinity of Brownsville and that he never had any sons in our command, but on the contrary was in the rebel army—I understand volunteered in it and deserted it. I gave [illegible] carried through on a rail—he took the ride. As to subjugating him I know nothing about, but I here state that if any other man, Radical, Conservative or rebel, is found guilty of the same offense, he may expect to receive what we think just. Our men have conducted themselves well, molested nothing without orders from their officers, nor do we intend they shall. I will take this occasion, if permitted, to state that the piece published in the Memphis Avalanche, on the 26th ult., about our conduct at Brownsville is every word, from beginning to end, false.

Very respectfully, etc.,

J. K. Clingan,
Capt. Co. D. 1st T. V. I. S. G.

This card virtually admits that the Brownlow "melish" at Brownsville have been shamefully lawless, but still its writer has the effrontery to say that "the piece published in the Memphis Avalanche on the 26th ult., about our conduct at Brownsville is every word, from beginning to end, false." This Captain Clingan admits that, because some man was alleged to have said something improper to one of his men, he (Clingan) had the man seized and ridden on a rail. Was this done under military law? Have these Brownlow henchmen the right to ride on a rail any man whom they don't like? Where is their respect for civil law? If the man had violated law, why was he not tried? Why was both civil and military law ignored and the man lynched? If Clingan don't know that this was a gross, illegal outrage, he hasn't sense enough to know when his men did other illegal acts. He is very ready to assert that his men have "conducted themselves well," and that every word the Avalanche said was false. Didn't his men burn a lot of lumber at the depot in reckless disregard of the property of citizens? Was that statement of the Avalanche false? If Clingan says so there are a dozen respectable men, including the railroad employes, who will swear to it. Clingan says his men did nothing that their officers didn't order. Did the officers order the burning of the lumber? Had they ordered the stealing of chickens?

Clingan knows better than to refer in detail to what the Avalanche said, and deny specifically the charges. There may have been some unimportant mistakes. The Avalanche gave the officers of the "melish" the credit of being well meaning, but weak. That was perhaps wrong. The confessed outrage on one citizen, who, without trial, was, it seems, barbarously ridden on a sharp rail, by order of this Clingan, is calculated to make us believe that the officers are the worst of the squad. Two-thirds of the melish are boys who seem under twenty years of age. Only three or four of those at Brownsville are over thirty years of age. Since their stay at Brownsville the lightest charges against them by the citizens are those mentioned by the Avalanche. These were, that they were disorderly and undisciplined; that they destroyed lumber, and recklessly disregarded the rights of the citizens, whom they considered rebels; that they stole chickens, and were a rough, hard set.

If Captain Clingan finds out what the people of Brownsville think now of his men, he will learn that even the colored people with whom one would expect them to fraternize, have no use for Brownlow melish. If he inquires he will find that his men have disturbed the Sunday night meetings of the colored people; have made indecent advances to colored women; have grossly insulted and threatened to shoot inoffensive colored men; have told colored men that they didn't come there to protect colored people; have threatened to shoot respectable white women if they looked out of their windows when the melish were in a fracas. This Captain Clingan will, if he tries, find that one of his men recently threatened to shoot a decent colored man whom he met in the road and wanted to get down on his knees to him. Was this by command of the officers? The melish soldier said he had had to join the melish to get out of a scrape for killing one nigger in East Tennessee, and he would "just as lieve as not" kill another one "if the negro thought himself as good as he was." Was this by command of the officers?

MISCELLANEOUS.

The weather continued to be oppressively warm yesterday, notwithstanding in the early morning a magnificent wind cloud passed over the city from the west, only discharging a few puffs as it rolled sublimely onward, and fading out of sight without discharging a drop of rain. It was but the vanguard, however, and was soon followed by other cohorts that cooled the torrid atmosphere with copious showers. These likewise passed away, and the sun came out with unabated power, until late in the afternoon a most abundant rain fell, deluging the streets and making all shelters desirable.

Business was supremely dull and freights exceedingly scarce. The river commenced receding here, which will be good news to planters below, to whom an overflow at this time would be disastrous.

There was a pleasant little reunion on board the City of Alton, to which the Memphis local and river editors, with some other friends, among whom was the genial Charley Morris, were invited. A sumptuous dinner was served and duly appreciated; and then, with friendly sentiments to the officers of the Lee and City of Alton, the basket of champagne tendered by Captain Cannon was duly tapped, and amid sundry agreeable reports, a number of toasts were offered and lavishly drank in flowing libations. Captain McPheeters did the honors with inimitable grace and frank hospitality.

About the same time another agreeable reunion was taking place on the popular Commercial, where the stand of colors voted her at the Tabernacle fair was presented in a graceful and eloquent speech by Admiral Semmes, and accepted with a pertinent and happy response by Captain Norton, the popular and ever-courteous clerk, after which the large assemblage sat down to a most superb banquet.

The Enterprise, which passed up yesterday bearing the remains of the lamented Claiborne F. Jackson, former Governor of Missouri. They were in charge of Major J. B. Perkins, son-in-law of deceased, who is conveying them to Saline county, Missouri, for interment.

There was considerable excitement yesterday in consequence of a manufactured dispatch having been reported that the Belle Memphis had beaten the Lee's time by thirty-seven minutes. Several persons who supposed they had the secret fell gloriously on "a sure thing." Late in the evening a dispatch from Will Dill, who went up a passenger, relieved anxiety by announcing that the trip had been made from port to port in twenty hours. The Belle is a fleet boat, but a trial of speed with the Lee must prove a failure. Wagers are at hand that the latter will improve upon her time at the next trial.

A barge for the Mississippi Valley Transportation Company was launched from Dubbs's ship yard, Cincinnati, on Thursday. It has a nine foot hold, and is expected to carry thirteen hundred tons of freight.

Captain D. DeHaven, of the Mississippi Steam Navigation Company, is in St. Louis soliciting aid and stock for the company.

The James Battle, an old New Orleans and Mobile steamer, passed up yesterday for Louisville, where she will be wrecked and her machinery put into a new boat.

For New Orleans and the Bends.—The unsurpassed passenger steamer General Quitman, in command of that veteran officer and high toned gentleman, Captain White, will be found at the Star wharf-boat this morning, ready to receive for New Orleans and all way points in the bends, and leave to-day at five p.m. She is the regular packet, and will attend to all way business. The Quitman has splendid passenger accommodations, and has no superior in fare, speed and comfort. Messrs. Howard and Meeanger—two gentlemen noted for their urbanity and courtesy to all who chance to do business with them—preside in the office. It is a source of pleasure to travel with the amiable officers of this fine steamer. Mr. Frank Smith, her popular steward is an agreeable gentleman, and always makes all who chance to travel on the Quitman at home. We commend this superb steamer and her gala crew to the shipping and traveling public.

The Celeste did not get off for Little Rock last evening, as advertised. She is announced to leave to-day at five p.m.

The Silver Spray, from New Orleans for Cincinnati, passed up yesterday.

The Commercial cleared for White river last evening, with a big trip in sight.

The Mollie Hambleton cleared for St. Francis river with a good trip.

The City of Alton backed out at five p.m. for St. Louis with a good passenger trip.

The fine steamer Darling, Captain Tom. Kates, leaves to-day at five p.m. for Cincinnati. The Darling has No. 1 passenger accommodations, and is in charge of reliable officers. Mr. A. E. Powers, a genial and clever gentleman, is her purser.

The Belle St. Louis is the regular Thursday St. Louis packet.

The Cora S, Captain Menkes, will be found at the wharf to-day, from Louisville, with a miscellaneous cargo. She returns to Louisville on Friday at five p.m.

The fine steamer F. W. Strader, Captain Stein, will leave the City wharf-boat this morning at eight p.m. for Cairo and Louisville.

The M. S. Mepham is due from Louisville, bound for New Orleans.

Messrs. Bigley, Mellersh & Co. have removed from their late location, No. 52 Jefferson street, to the Bethel Building, Court street, where they are prepared to receive and fill all orders for coal.

Captain Jim Patterson, Passenger Agent of the Memphis and St. Louis and Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Lines, has received the appointment of ticket agent of the Southern Asylum, No. 5 Jefferson street.

The firm of English, Thompson & Co., newspaper [illegible], was on the verge of bankruptcy during the early part of the week, have been successful in borrowing a sufficient amount of capital to enable them to continue business. The firm is now in a flourishing condition and expects to do an extensive trade during the coming season. Steamboat clerks will, at all times, be furnished with reading matter by these knights of the quill.

The Louisville Courier of Monday has the following:

The river continues falling, though not very fast, with seven feet four inches in the canal, last evening, by the mark. On the falls there were five feet four inches water in the pass last evening down the Indian chute, and falling. The Havana descended the falls yesterday, but the Clifton and Emerald took the canal chute, the former bound to Memphis and the latter to New Orleans. The river trade is dull, with but very light shipments to any point. The M. S. Mepham departed to New Orleans Saturday, but with very little freight, and the Indiana and St. Charles laid over until this week. The wreck of the John T. McCombs, as it now lies at Upper Portland, was sold at auction Saturday to George McCallum, of this city, for the sum of $2,650. Captain Dan Richards ran the bids up to $2,600. The Liberty No. 2 resumes her place in the Louisville and Memphis packet line this week, and the day of departure will be announced in our advertising columns. In the meantime the owners of the boat have gone to Cincinnati, where an insurance committee of arbitration are to decide her late insurance claims for repairs, etc.

St. Louis exchanges of Monday have the following:

River falling steadily here; rising above Keokuk. The Illinois is stationary and the lower Missouri falling. Weather hot. Rates to New Orleans advanced a trifle. It is likely that to Vicksburg and New Orleans they will be still further advanced to-day. The total number of steamboat departures last week, including the daily Alton packet, was fifty-four. Business continues fair for the season, and excellent compared with that being done at other points generally.

A Boy Drowned.—On Saturday evening Joseph J. Simpson, a boy seventeen years old, in the employ of E. O. Stanard & Co., was riding on the river in a skiff with a gentleman, who was rowing. The current carried the skiff to the steamer Julia lying at the wharf-boat. The boy, fearing that the skiff would be drawn under the wheel, became excited and exclaiming, "O, there is the wheel!" jumped into the water and was swept away by the current, and sank to rise no more. He was a fine, active lad, and leaves a widowed mother to mourn his loss. It is a singular circumstance that about a year ago Henry Dowell, a lad about the same age as young Simpson, who was also in the employ of Stanard & Co., was drowned.

THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE CZAR.

Additional Particulars.

PARIS, June 8.

The Moniteur, in its official account of the attempted assassination, says the ball struck the head of the horse which carried one of the Imperial grooms riding at the door of the carriage. The people in the crowd arrested the assassin, and the police interfered to save his life, which was threatened by the enraged populace. The man says his name is Bergouski, and that he is a native of Volhynia. Ledrite says the assassin is a Polish merchant, and that he purchased a double barreled pistol here on June 5.

The Gazette des Tribuneaux says the groom in waiting, who was riding by the door of the Imperial carriage, observed the menacing movement of the man in the crowd, and caused his horse to bound forward so as to place him directly between the assassin and their majesties. The ball passed through the space formed between Napoleon and one of the Grand Dukes, a son of the Czar, wounding a lady standing opposite to see the carriage pass. The blood from the head of the groom's horse spirted on the uniforms of the Imperial party.

The man attempted to fire a second shot, but this discharge burst the second barrel. The assassin said he came from Belgium two days since with the intention of killing the Czar.

The Paris Seicle says the man states that he had no accomplices.

The assassin was examined to-day. He is an instrument maker. He was asked, "How could you fire at a sovereign, the guest of France, who nourished you?"

He replied, with tears: "True, I committed a great crime toward France."

"But you ran the risk of killing Napoleon."

To this the prisoner answered: "No; a Polish bullet could not go astray. It must go straight when aimed at the Czar. I worked to relieve the world of the Czar, and the Czar of the remorse which must weigh upon him."

The prisoner showed no sorrow for the crime he had attempted to commit, and only expressed regret at its failure.

Napoleon has conferred the cross of the Legion of Honor on the groom. The horse of the latter died.

ALABAMA ITEMS.

The revival at Eufaula is still progressing with unabated intensity.

Jack Hardman, Esq., of Eufaula, declines the agency for John Hardy's Sentinel.

The Auburn Intelligencer records the death of Captain H. C. Sills, an old and estimable citizen.

Point Clear is now open for the reception of visitors.

Charles Hill, sheriff of Union county, Alabama, was shot a few days ago, by Wm. Campbell, while the former was attempting to serve a warrant on him. Campbell made his escape.

A fireman employed by the Mobile and Ohio railroad has recovered $15,000 damages and $1,000 for medical attendance, for the loss of an arm and for other injuries received two years ago. The case was tried at Mobile.

John H. Wilkins, of Jefferson county recently cut his wife's throat, while on the road returning from a visit to his relatives. The injury was not fatal, and she made her way to a negro cabin, where she gave information which led to his arrest by a colored man.

The case of Moses Waring vs. the Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of Mobile, is reversed, and Mr. Waring's bill dismissed on its merits.

The Huntsville Democrat of the 7th says that last week, Thomas M. Peters, and a negro, black as soot, arrived at Mrs. McCartney's hotel, at Decatur, Alabama, and went into the dining room together and took seats, side by side, at the breakfast table. Mrs McCartney, who was sitting at the head of the table, arose, and in a very dignified manner, approached the negro and told him he must leave the table. He obeyed. Judge Peters muttered something, thought to be a disapproval of the act, and to the effect that it would all be set right by the Montgomery convention.

The Montgomery Mail learns from a gentleman who has seen the report of a Scientific Commission, published in a European paper, that to Alabama has been awarded the palm of producing the most superior minerals of any of the States represented.

An enthusiastic bridegroom applied at headquarters in Mobile the other day, for the services of the military band to play at his wedding. The commanding officer did not feel at liberty to lend the band, but thought he could send a file of soldiers to fire over the house.

The Selma Messenger says: "The body of the late John M. Parkman was recovered yesterday about fifteen miles below Cahaba. We learn from gentlemen who saw the body, that the appearances all indicated that he came to his death from a gunshot wound, the ball seeming to have entered near the spine on the left side. It will be remembered a shot was fired at him by the guard on the occasion of his escape from prison."

The Huntsville Independent of the 7th is informed by Captain Henry Smith of Jackson county, that an examination of Lindsey who shot the negro man near Larkinsville, of which we gave an account on Tuesday, was held on yesterday, and Mr. Lindsey acquitted. The negro was bound over to appear at the next term of the Circuit Court.

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
WEDNESDAY, June 12, 1867.

The money market yesterday was steady and unchanged. Gold opened in New York at 137½, and steadily advanced to 137¾. The market here was quiet, with light sales, the premium rates ruling at 135@137¾. Silver remains steady, but firm; buying at 125@128.

EXCHANGE.—Is quiet; buying at ⅛ to ¼ off, and selling at ⅛ to ¼c premium.

NEW ORLEANS EXCHANGE—Buying at ½ off and selling at par.

CITY SCRIP—Quiet and steady; brokers are buying at 60@62, and selling at 63@65.

COUNTY SCRIP—Quiet; buying at 85@87, and selling at 88@90.

POLICE SCRIP—Dull; buying at 70 and selling at 75.

BONDS—Memphis and Ohio railroad bonds, 25@30c; Memphis and Little Rock first mortgage bonds, 70@80; Memphis and Charleston railroad bonds, 65@70; Tennessee bonds, with coupons, 60@65; Tennessee bonds, new, 55@60; Mobile and Ohio railroad bonds, 50@55; Memphis city coupons, 60@65; Memphis city railroad bonds, 50@60.

SOUTHERN MONEY—Quiet and steady; a small demand and little offering. Transactions are confined to small lots: Bank of Tennessee, old, 40@45c; Planters Bank, 94c; Union Bank, 96@99c; Union Bank Certificates, 99c; Bank of Chattanooga, 10c; Bank of Commerce, 95c; Bank of Nashville, —; Bank of Memphis, par; Bank of Middle Tennessee, 95c; Bank of Paris, 95c; Bank of the Union, 95c; Bank of Knoxville, 42c; Bank of West Tennessee, 45c; Bucks Bank, 95c; City Bank, 50c; Commercial Bank, par; Merchants' Bank, 95c; Northern Bank, 95c; Ocoee Bank, 8c; Bank of Shelbyville, 80c; Southern Bank, 25c; Traders' Bank, 95c; Life and General Insurance Company, 20c.

NATIONAL BANKS WITHOUT CIRCULATION—WESTERN DEMAND FOR CURRENCY.

Quite a number of National banks have been organized to which the Controller has not yet given any circulation, because the amount provided for by law is already out, and there are many others that have received only part of the amount to which they would, under other circumstances, be entitled. There is a pressing demand for more currency west of the Mississippi, and more particularly in Kansas, which he is anxious to meet, and he will do so as soon as a sufficient amount of these broken banks has been restored.

In addition to these, the First National of Carondelet, Missouri, with a circulation of twenty-five thousand five hundred dollars, and First National of Columbia, Missouri, with a circulation of eleven thousand nine hundred and ninety dollars, have taken up their bonds and deposited lawful money in the United States Treasury to the amount of their outstanding circulation. Here is an aggregate of eight hundred and thirty-two thousand four hundred and ninety dollars, which has reverted to Government, upon the return and destruction of which an equal amount of circulation will be at the disposal of the Controller of the Currency for distribution according to the terms and conditions prescribed in the National Currency act, subject to the same rules as governed the distribution of the amount originally authorized by Congress.

Concerning the late high prices of breadstuffs and the prospect, the Chicago Tribune says: There is no confidence in the continued high price of wheat or flour, and notwithstanding the vigorous efforts of holders, prices are going down at long strides. No. 2 spring wheat sold in this market two weeks ago at $2 85 per bushel, and yesterday the same article sold for $2 15. There is no speculative movement. Dealers only purchase enough from day to day to meet the actual demand for consumption; and there is a strong disposition on the part of operators to have no old stock on hand when the new crop finds its way to market.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The story that secret arrangements have been made between the Secretary of the Treasury and certain National banks, under which these banks are to receive new circulating notes in place of broken bank bills, that they may redeem and present at the department, is denied by authority. If any banks are buying up bills of defunct National banks they do it of their own motion and at their own risk, and speculation in these bills is not countenanced by the department.

The following is a list of National banks that have failed and are now in the hands of the Receiver, with amount of circulating notes issued to each: First National Bank, Attica, New York, circulation, $45,000; Merchants' National Bank, Washington, D. C., $180,000; Venango National Bank, Franklin, Penn., $85,000; Tennessee National Bank, Memphis, $90,000; First National Bank, Newton, Mass., $130,000; First National Bank, Selma, Ala., $85,000; First National Bank, New Orleans, $180,000.
